Children's Museum of Pittsburgh Kicks Off its Year of Kindness; Visitors Who Donate to a Monthly Collection Drive Get One Free Admission

The first collection will be a food drive in January

PITTSBURGH (December 30, 2025) – Children's Museum of Pittsburgh is excited to announce the start of a year-long initiative to collect items for those in need in the community.

Partnering with local organizations, the Museum will target a specific community need each month of 2026 and collect items to assist with that need, such as food, school supplies, baby supplies and toys.

Kicking off the “Year of Kindness” in January will be a food drive where the collected items will go to the Greater Pittsburgh Food Bank for distribution.

Every visitor who brings an item to donate to one of the Year of Kindness drives – in January, this means a nonperishable food item - will receive one free admission to apply to their visit that day; limit one adult ticket per family.

“We’re excited to launch a full year of giving back to the community and showing kindness to those in need,” says Jane Werner, Executive Director of Children’s Museum of Pittsburgh. “We’re working with community partners to better understand what specific items are needed and when they’re needed.”

Historically, the Children’s Museum has received great support from the community for its annual Mister Rogers’ Neighborhood Sweater Drive, which has collected and distributed sweaters for more than 25 years. Additionally, the Museum’s diaper drive in 2023 collected more than 27,000 diapers for the Western Pennsylvania Diaper Bank.
